Another Bizarre Google Key Player Death! The Silicon Valley Murders (or just coincidence)?

Rajeev Motwani invented the mood manipulation and page ranking system that Google now uses as it's key technology. According to many in Silicon Valley, Rajeev taught the technology to Google's founders, who made "Google" with the information. Then Rajeev, in perfect health, was found floating, dead, face-down in his Silicon Valley swimming pool (Breitbart similarity?).

Conspiracy theorists say he was killed with a spy agency-class non-detectable cardiac arrest vapor (The existence of this kind of kill-vapor is now public knowledge) to avoid the exposure of the fact that Google is now using "mood manipulation" for subliminal political voter manipulation.

Cleantech Executive Gary Conley, a whistle-blower about, and enemy of, Google's investors, was found with a bullet in his head in the backfields of a Northern California Air Force base. His family and friends say he would never have hurt himself.

There are a number of other strange Google-related deaths...

Anyway...

As investigations on what Google is "really" up to, close-in, the bodies keep piling up. Google Executives are known to love their kinky sex (Websearch: "Eric Schmidt's NY Sex Penthouse") and hookers but this one takes the cake. Honey Trap? Mata Hari was famous for pretending to be a hooker and then killing her targets with "accidental overdoses", Death-by-hooker is one of the oldest tricks in the book. Sometimes the hooker's job is just to get the target to pass out and then the "WET WORK" guys come in and finish him off with the overdose and make sure he flat-lines.

See THE DC MADAM story. She did staging for "Honey Traps" and political hits and then she was suspiciously hung/terminated!:

Police say Alix Catherine Tichelman, 26, killed a 51-year-old man by administering a lethal dose of heroin on his yacht in Santa Cruz, Calif., in November 2013. Tichelman was arrested July 4, 2014.

(07-09) 10:37 PDT SANTA CRUZ -- A "high-priced" prostitute from Folsom was behind bars Wednesday after police said she was responsible for the heroin overdose death of a regular client - a Google executive whose body was found in November on his yacht in Santa Cruz.

Alix Catherine Tichelman, 26, was arrested Friday after police lured her to the Santa Cruz area by posing as a customer and offering her $1,000 for sex, authorities said.

She was arrested on suspicion of murder, but Santa Cruz County prosecutors accused her of the lesser charge of manslaughter, along with counts of transporting drugs and destroying evidence. She made her first court appearance Wednesday and was being held on $1.5 million bail.

Tichelman is scheduled to return to court June 16 for arraignment, said Assistant District Attorney Rafael Vazquez.

The victim, 51-year-old Forrest Timothy Hayes, died Nov. 23 on his 50-foot yacht, Escape, in the Santa Cruz harbor, according to Santa Cruz police Deputy Chief Steve Clark.

According to an online memorial site, Hayes had worked at tech companies including Sun Microsystems, Apple and finally Google. He was born in Dearborn, Mich., was married 17 years and had five children, according to his obituary.

"I was really devastated when I heard about it," Todd Zion, who worked at Google for a short time under Hayes, told The Chronicle on Wednesday. "He was a great boss. I never had a chance to thank him."

SILICON-VALLEY

An unidentified person wrote on the online memorial page, "It is incredible to see the number of people Forrest touched. There are simply no words to describe this. I had the unique opportunity to work for Forrest at Apple and Google. He is one of the best bosses I have had - caring and thoughtful."

In a press release, Santa Cruz police said Tichelman had an "ongoing prostitution relationship" with the victim, met him the night he died and injected him with heroin. Footage from a security camera on the yacht showed Hayes "suffering medical complications and going unconscious," officials said.

Rather than call for help from authorities, Tichelman allegedly gathered her belongings, including drugs and paraphernalia, and at one point stepped over Hayes' body to "finish a glass of wine," before lowering the blinds to conceal the body and leaving.

Police said they had learned of a second case in another state with "similar circumstances" and were investigating Tichelman's possible involvement.

The police press release said Tichelman "works as a high-priced outcall prostitute and meets her clients through a website, 'Seeking Arrangements.'" During interviews, Ms. Tichelman boasted of over 200 client relationships."

According to online profiles of Tichelman, she is from Atlanta, went to high school in Duluth, Ga., and studied journalism at Georgia State University. She called herself a makeup artist, a model and a dancer. A modeling page on Facebook associated with Tichelman contains dozens of pictures of her posing seductively in racy outfits.

Santa Cruz police said they hurried to arrest Tichelman last week after learning that she might leave the area.

On her Facebook page, Tichelman wrote June 30 that she was "coming home to the filthy, nasty, dirty south! Hoping to start the drive back to Atlanta at the beginning of next week. Can't wait to see everyone. It's celebration time y all!"

Are they "cleaning up loose ends"?

Is this a "deadmen tell no tales" exercise?

If these are all murders, is Eric Schmidt having people killed or are Google's investors having people killed or are the politicians that they swapped the kick-backs with having the people who know the whole story killed...??? I'm confused.

As we have all seen, hundreds of times, in the recent news: Insane, power mad, billionaires and Silicon Valley VC's will do anything, stop at nothing, lie like there is no tomorrow, and consider "the law" to be something-that-does-not-apply-to-them.

Oh those Silicon Valley Illuminati, they are just little buggers aren't they?

Send in your links... Let's discuss.

TT- Google

We need to see the video on the yacht. Did she screw him, help him get high, figure her sex gig was over and leave because hookers just want to get their cash and get out of there? In that case: Alibi.

Did the video run on for a few hours afterwards, without being edited, and do we see anyone else enter? Can we prove the video was not edited? Where did the heroin come from? Him, or her?

Really, really want to see the yacht video..
